FOREWORD.

The [illegible] Church on the Hill, the Congregational Church, is located at the corner of Main and Greenwood streets in Lenox. The cemetery extends westward from the Church.

For complete coverage, the grave stones in the cemetery were considered in three sections:

Section A. The stones on the outer side of the road to the right on entering the church yard.

Section B. The stones on the inside of the road, from west to east, beginning on the north of the sidewalk.

Section C. The stones south of the sidewalk, from west to east.

Nearly illegible stones were studied at different hours and in different lights. When possible, those records which had been deciphered with difficulty were checked with the town records.

Variations in spelling are those that appear on the monuments. For example, the name of Bethiah Northrop (page 74) appears on the Northrop stone.

Married women have been indexed under their married name and also that which is believed to be their maiden name.

A list of veterans having either monuments or markers denoting war service is to be found on pages 82, 84, 85 and 86.
